Reflection on Luke 1:26-38

God first manifested himself to the Jewish people by appearing as a cloud. As this cloud, he guided them through the desert to freedom, he spoke to them, and he descended to overshadow the tent of meeting in order to be present among his chosen people. "Then the cloud covered the meeting tent, and the glory of the LORD filled the Dwelling. Moses could not enter the meeting tent, because the cloud settled down upon it and the glory of the LORD filled the Dwelling" (Ex 40:34-35). If Moses had entered the tent, the power of the Most High would have obliterated him. But now the angel told Mary that this same glory would overshadow her! No wonder the angel told her not to be afraid. Do we tremble when we approach the altar? That same glorious power of the Most high takes up residence within our flesh when we receive Holy Communion. God no longer descends in the form of a cloud; he approaches under the appearance of a morsel of bread. Mary is the new tent of meeting, and her simple "yes" made it possible that God would one day make a tabernacle of each of us. If we receive him without fear, does it mean that the angel has reassured us?

Last Words of Christ

...(Magnificat)

"Father forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing."

You wore a crown of thorns, Lord, your Passion's emblem of mockery, as you spoke this quiet prayer to your Father early in your crucifixion while shouts of scorn attempted to drown in loud curses your being heard. But your words carried well to the depth of your Father's heart and they stretch across time to the present day, waiting again to be heard. Let me never forget that you continue to pray these words of exoneration for my own soul, still asking your Father for my pardon despite my failures and my stubborn refusal to forgive as you have forgiven me, and, even worse perhaps, despite my unconcern too often for the wound I inflict upon you by hours indifferent to you.

"...today you will be with me in Paradise."

The reprieve of Didymus, the good thief, stolen by mercy at that late hour, continues to astonish me, Lord, and fill me with delight. It puts to rest any fear that we are judged at the end as though standing before a prosecutor intent on proving guilt. No, you are greatly merciful and demand only sincere, honest acknowledgment of sin. We need not tremble before the kindness of your eyes. But there is more to savor. Didymus received his wonderful grace while beside you in suffering, and perhaps the same is true for all of us. Help me to know how present is your mercy in any trial, that I may live with a longing to hear myself one day the same words you spoke to Didymus.
